Brian J. Hennigan is the managing partner and a co-founder of Hueston Hennigan LLP.

As one of the nation's leading litigators, Mr. Hennigan partners closely with clients to help them navigate civil and criminal litigation and obtain outstanding results. He has achieved those outcomes for corporations and individuals—including professional athletes, leaders of various religious denominations, doctors, lawyers, accountants, and business executives—in numerous high-profile federal criminal matters. Most recently, he defended clients against allegations under the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, the Securities and Exchange Commission Act, the Internal Revenue Code, and the Sherman Act.

In addition to his white collar defense practice, Mr. Hennigan represents clients in civil actions, including securities and class action matters, patent licensing, antitrust, contracts, and unfair business practice cases. He has also defended law firms and individual lawyers in malpractice claims with regard to complex tax matters.

Mr. Hennigan has earned significant praise from clients and colleagues for his white collar practice. Chambers USA has ranked him in Band 1 every year since 2008 in the White Collar Crime & Government Investigations category, lauding him as a “creative thinker and problem solver” and “a terrific attorney because of his great ability to communicate with judges and juries.” In 2018, Mr. Hennigan received the California Lawyer Attorney of the Year (CLAY) recognition, which singles out lawyers whose work has had a significant impact on public policy, the law, and the profession. Benchmark Litigation has also recognized him as a Top 20 Trial Lawyer in California and among the Top 100 Trial Lawyers in America.

Before co-founding Hueston Hennigan, Mr. Hennigan was a partner at Irell & Manella. Prior to entering private practice, he served as an assistant U.S. Attorney in the Central District of California, where he was an assistant division chief for the office's Criminal Division. In this position, he conducted numerous grand jury investigations, served as lead trial counsel in more than 30 trials, and successfully represented the U.S. in multiple appeals before the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit. Mr. Hennigan received commendations for his work in the U.S. Attorney's Office from the U.S. Department of Justice and numerous other government agencies.

Experience

Represented the University of California Board of Trustees in a high-profile internal investigation of the Office of the President related to alleged improper activity in response to a state audit. The result of this work led to corrective actions within the Office of the President. His work on this matter garnered a California Lawyer Attorney of the Year (CLAY) award in 2018.

Served as trial counsel in the representation of an individual wrongfully convicted for the intentional homicide of a family member, as part of the Loyola Law School Project for the Innocent in 2018. After a two-week hearing, the Los Angeles District Attorney's Office stipulated to vacating the conviction and the immediate release of the client.

Represented GlaxoSmithKline as plaintiff's counsel in a complex antitrust and breach of contract case related to patent licensing from Abbott Labs. The representation included acting as lead counsel for GSK in district court and representation in the Ninth Circuit. The results of this work gained him praise as "Litigator of the Week" from The American Lawyer.

Represented a member of the Qualcomm Executive Committee in a Department of Justice and Securities Exchange Commission criminal/administrative investigation of alleged violations of the Foreign Corrupt Practice Act. After a lengthy investigation, no FCPA charges were pursued against the client.
