Brittani A. Jackson represents clients in a broad range of matters, including commercial contract disputes, shareholder activism, issues of corporate governance, antitrust, and securities litigation. Ms. Jackson has experience litigating cases throughout every stage of the process—from writing pre- and post-trial briefs to conducting witness interviews, taking and defending depositions, leading discovery efforts, and preparing witnesses and experts for deposition and trial examination.

Ms. Jackson has also represented clients in investigations being conducted by the Securities and Exchange Commission and the New York State Attorney General, and has spearheaded numerous internal corporate investigations.

Prior to joining Hueston Hennigan, Ms. Jackson was a litigation associate at Wachtell, Lipton, Rosen & Katz in New York, where she handled a wide variety of matters, including conducting multiple high-profile investigations on behalf of a national sports league and advising on policy matters. She also represented a national automotive company in a multimillion-dollar lawsuit concerning breach of contract and breach of fiduciary duties as well as a large industrial corporation in a securities litigation and shareholder demand lawsuit.
